Winter 2007 – 'deco'dence & cubic'cool

Harper & Harper are a fresh new jewellery label producing highly original and striking accessories. With each piece being lovingly handcrafted in limited edition runs and featuring their distinctive Harper & Harper logo, this stylish and directional jewellery collection will always make a bold statement.

Harper & Harper have already attracted a celebrity following, with Ana Matronic of the Scissor Sisters being a big fan. As a style icon, Harper & Harper were delighted when Ana commissioned the team to design various pieces for her, which she has been spotted wearing in both Scissor Sister videos and onstage during their world tour.

Harper & Harper's launch collection is composed of a contemporary selection of cuffs, bangles, pendants and earrings crafted in perspex with bold metallic inlay detail and etching. With their passion for the era, the 'deco'dence range features super modern chunky Perspex cuffs, earrings and choker pendants with an Art Deco feel. The cubic'cool series are simply designed but unusual shaped bangles. "We combined the clean design lines of the 1920's with modern material for 'deco'dence. The cubic'cool designs are very futuristic and inspired by 1960's minimalist shapes, think modern day Barbarella" Angela Harper explains. Both collections are available in a wide range of colours including Jet Black, Snow White, Smoky Brown and Ruby Red with special edition colours released throughout the season.

Husband and wife team Angela and Russell Harper are the creative force behind Harper & Harper jewellery. Based in Bristol, the business was born when Russell, a model maker, began to make pieces of jewellery as gifts for his wife Angela. After receiving so many compliments and positive comments on the jewellery, they decided to make the hobby into a business. By combining their backgrounds in design and drawing on their knowledge of art and design history for inspiration the couple produce an exclusive range of handmade contemporary jewellery. "The Harper & Harper product range has developed from Russell's knowledge of materials and my desire for individual and eye-catching jewellery," said Angela Harper.

As well as their commercial range, Harper & Harper also create bespoke pieces for their customers and enjoy the challenge of interpreting ideas into commissioned and completely unique pieces of jewellery.

Prices range from £25 for earrings through to £60 for bangles.
Each item of jewellery comes packaged in a presentation box.
